Grand Opening at Art's Paint Store Attracts Crowd

The grand opening of Art's paint store, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Art Meyers, held on Saturday, June 30, was a huge success, and literally thousands of residents visited the new store. The business had formerly been located at the intersection of routes 173 and 50 west of town.

More than 2700 prizes and souvenirs were distributed. They included shopping bags with synthetic sponges inside, can openers, and various samples of paints to the ladies. Indian hat and bubble gum were gifts to the children, and cigars, pencils and key rings were given to the men.

A novel feature of the advertising campaign which attracted the large numbers included painting of footprints on the sidewalks and street in the vicinity, all leading to the store, and other advertising media carried the words "follow the footprints to Art's Paint store on June 30." According to the owners, the new store will be better equipped to handle all possible needs in the decorating line than ever before, and a new slogan—"Be Smart, See Art!" will be featured in future advertising.

Several representatives of various lines of paints handled by the company were on hand to help with the crowd and several extra clerks were all kept busy.

First action of the board was to discard the lighter makes of car from consideration as being too light for police use. Voting was on choice between the Nash Ambassador and the Olds "88" with the Nash getting the nod.

Cost of the new squad car will be $2100, and included in this price are extras including two spotlights, a flasher mounted on the roof, a bed, weather eye heater and air conditioner, heavy duty battery, six ply tires. A new steel partition has been installed in the Antioch postoffice on Lake st. replacing the old wooden structure that was moved from the old location on Main st.

Like the bride's outfit, the new equipment in the new building also has something old—the lock boxes, which are being fitted into the frame work of the partition.

Postmaster Roy Kufalk had a group of men working late Tuesday in an attempt to complete the work before the holiday, July 4.

Building Permits Studied Tuesday

A building permit was authorized Tuesday evening at the village board meeting for the erection of a frame house, 24 x 42 feet in the Nabor Subdivision. The home will be erected by William Newhouse at a cost of $7500.

A request for a permit to build a two-story building on the property at 430 Lake street, was shelved because of lack of detailed plans for the building. The property is owned by Onna Haak; and at present is a home and a building on the rear of the property which houses Dick's Bike Shop. The new building would be one story high. Mr. Haak will submit more detailed plans for approval at a later date.

Shops at High School
May Not Be Ready for Use for School Year

Shop rooms included in the new addition at Antioch high school will not be completed in time for use during the next term, beginning in September, unless a source of steel can be found soon, according to Richard E. Edmundson, principal at the school.

Tenyon Construction Co., contractors, said this week that Ryerson Steel company which was to have furnished the steel for the building, has not been able to deliver, and that unless the steel is forthcoming during the next few weeks, insufficient time will be left to complete the shop part of the building.

Edmundson said that plans of the school board and the Construction company, had been made with the shop area as the first part of the building to be completed because the need was greatest in these departments, and that on advice from the builders, classes had been scheduled for shop and industrial arts courses which would not have been possible with the old building.

If steel can be found, the building can be completed within thirty days, ready for use, since some part of the work can be done without the steel. Edmundson said today that it is believed that the steel can be obtained in time to get the building in use for next year.

Library Notes

Henry Steele Commager is one of America's foremost historians. His research has been invaluable to students. "Documents of American History," edited by Mr. Commager, is a collection of laws, proclamations, speeches, charters and court decisions which have had a vital effect on the course of our history.

Starting with the privileges and prerogatives granted to Columbus and ending with the North Atlantic Treaty, "Documents of American History" is a source book of great value.

"Documents of American History" was given to the Antioch Township Library in memory of Ernest L. Simmons. In "A Soldier's Story," General Omar Bradley tells how he came to be chosen to lead the U. S. invasion forces in France and describes the movements of the Twelfth Army Group up to the German surrender. This is a story of human beings as well as of soldiers. Through the General's eyes, we see Montgomery, Patton, Eisenhower and Marshall as well as the hosts of officers and men needed for the largest invasion force in history. "A Soldier's Story" is on the shelves of the library in memory of Herman A. Radtke.

Giants, Sox Lead in Little League Play; Sox vs. Dodgers Sun.

The Giants and Sox with one game played lead the Little Baseball league.

The game scheduled between the Dodgers and Tigers June 27, was called on account of a wet field and threatening skies.

On Sunday, July 1, the first game which was between the Sox and Yanks was tight baseball for the first two innings. Scully then let in five runs which completely upset the game sure Yanks. Zalatoris replaced Scully, but he could not hold down the rising tide of victory for the Sox.

The second game, between the Cubs and the Dodgers, was real close baseball, the kind one would expect in the big league clubs. It really was a pitchers duel between K. Anderson and Edmundson.

The Cubs finally nosed out the Dodgers in the sixth, with a double by Barnstable who drove in Murrie.

If the Cubs had had Edmundson pitching the first inning, there would have been a good chance of a shut-out of the Dodgers. Thompson let in the two runs the Dodgers received in the first.

Fred Stahmer Makes Good Showing With His Boat Hawk at Dubuque

Fred Stahmer of Rte 173 near Antioch driving his Class "E" power boat, "The Hawk," in the races at Dubuque, Ia. Sunday, June 29, came close to winning from Sherman Critchfield, No. 1 racer from Lake-land, Fla.

Stahmer was on his last lap of the 1 1/2 mile three-lap race when a head came off a valve in his motor and he broke a piston rod. The motor overheated and he had to stop.

The Antioch man with a boat slightly less powerful than that of Critchfield, "Hell's Angel" was beating the nationally known Florida racer on the turns when his boat went bad. He plans to have it repaired and enter other races later in the season.

Discuss Improvement Of Village Property East Of Soo Tracks

Engineer Estimates $22,500 Cost of Water and Sewer

Plans to improve and make available to manufacturing firms part of the land owned by the village east of the Soo Line tracks were discussed at length at a meeting of the village board Tuesday evening.

A good many companies indicated a desire to locate plants in Antioch, and the board plans to make available land for their use. At present plans are in tentative state, but it seems that enough of the land can be sold immediately to cover the cost of improvements. Trustee Cunningham said today that if the improvements can be made, that it seems assured that several manufacturers will avail themselves of the opportunity to move here.

Cunningham also said that if the plan is completed, that a part of the deed will require that a building be put up on each plot within a reasonable time and that the land be used for the purposes stated. In other words, the land would be sold with the provision that it be used for manufacturing and like uses, and that a chose waste would be kept to avoid speculation.

David Miller, village engineer, reported Tuesday evening on the cost of water and sewer for 16 one-acre plots, and the cost would be about $703 for the sewer and $548 for the water for each plot. The sewer estimate includes $4500 for a pumping station, since the land is too low for a connection with the village system without the use of lift pumps. Added to the cost of the sewer and water would be the cost of constructing roads, estimated at approximately $250 per acre. This will bring the cost of each acre plot to about $1500 for improvements, and it is hoped that the plots can be sold at an attractive price in order to induce plants to locate here.

Among those interested in the land is the American Cross Arm and Conduit company, with several plants located in this area, as well as all over the United States. This company will require about five acres. Members of the village board will confer with the company this week to report on the cost of the land.

Squandering Your Money

Anyone who has the slightest interest in honest, economical government should read an article by Charles Stevenson in the June 9 issue of the Saturday Evening Post, called "How Government Pressure Boys Squander Your Money." The point of it is well described by the Post's sub-title: "With expensive books, cocktail parties and thousands of paid press agents, government agencies beat the drum to glorify and perpetuate themselves. They try to teach you what to think—at your expense."

Mr. Stevenson's article deals with governmental publicity activities—paid for, of course, by all the taxpayers. Here is a small sample of what he has to say: "Budget Bureau statistics indicate that $105,000,000 is spent annually from taxes to pay 3,400 Federal publicity employees and circulate their product. Much of this represents statistical reports, desirable promotion of good farming practices, information concerning social-security benefits, plus other services authorized by Congress. But much of it is also sheer propaganda of another order. In one week The New York Times received enough government news releases to fill 800 of its columns, and the Journalism Quarterly, on analyzing 286 releases of this type, found 55,080 words of press-agentry, 10,166 words to influence legislation, and 45,615 words to influence policy."

Mr. Stevenson names names. The Federal Security Administration has shot the works in promoting compulsory health insurance. The Bureau of Reclamation has beaten the drums to the limit in trying to force socialization of the power industry and government power development especially in the West. And government propaganda has entrenched the Army Engineers "as an all-powerful pork-barrel construction agency."

It is an amazing story—and a disheartening one. How much longer will the "government pressure boys" be permitted to squander the taxpayers' money in this manner?

The Moon Won't Obey

A representative of two national organizations of retailers recently testified before a Senate committee. In the course of his talk he said, "Retailers will work to the utmost to make price controls work, but they believe that price controls alone are useless unless other means of controlling inflation are used. You simply cannot control floods of inflation or floods of water by putting a dam in the lower reaches of the stream. You must go to the source. . . ."

"We cannot get increased production through increased restriction of our economy. History shows that men can do practically nothing about economic laws. After all, we do not make them, we merely discover them, as we do physical laws. We can no more effect price or inflation controls by passing laws and setting up enforcement agencies than we can oblige the moon to circle the earth at 100,000 miles instead of 240,000 miles an hour by decreeing that it do so and setting up an agency of scientists to force the moon to obey the edict."

He then advocated that the government go to the roots of the inflationary problems by controlling the money supply, by putting into effect a sound tax program, by encouraging savings, and by reducing spending and purchasing wherever possible.

One of the worst facets of price control is that many believe it is the perfect, easy cure. They should be learning better now. We have, as yet, dealt to only a small extent with the causes of this dread economic malady.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

I will now discuss Einstein. My word, says Henry, you and Einstein. Hold your horses, I says, it is not RELATIVITY that I will tell you about, it is what Einstein said when he laid down his slide-rule and talked Main Street talk. He said, "I live in that solitude that is painful to youth but is delicious in maturity."

I been pondering, and you know with more and more people being retired at 64 and then not knowing what to do with themselves, I figure they must have missed something along the road or they would have 100 things to catch up on. They would not need ask a psychologist what to do next.

But the moral, it is for the ones of 40 and 50 thereabouts—it is to prepare 'em for 64 and peace like Einsteins versus being perplexed and lost. Folks at 40 and 50 could stay home an evening now and then and do some preliminary pondering—also get acquainted with their off-shoots. And furthermore they are no longer the pictures on the dance floor that they were at 22. You know pop don't knock the ladies for a loop quite so easy after he reaches the 40-50 bracket—and that goes too for the plump and 40 mamas, if she only knew it. I kinda deduct it is time to rejuvenate our thinking. Time to relax at 40 to 50 and thereby avoid being psychological problem or forlorn guy or dame at 64.

Yours with the low down,

Arrangements for a combination county fair race track and Wilmot high school athletic field were completed Thursday evening. A joint meeting of the Kenosha County Fair association and the Wilmot high school board worked out details of the cooperative agreement. The groups hope to complete construction of the track, field and bleachers in time for racing events at the fair in August. Materials necessary have been purchased for many months, and construction will begin next week, it was announced Friday. Twenty acres of land and lighting will be provided by Wilmot. The fair will then develop the quarter mile oval, prepare the athletic field in its center, and construct $8,000 worth of bleachers. During the summer months, the facilities will be in complete control of the fair association. The track will be used for midget auto, stock car and trotting and pacing races. The whole area will serve as fair grand stand. High School will take over from Labor Day to Memorial Day, using the track for field events and the athletic field for football and hockey. At Monday night's annual meeting of the Wilmot school district voters authorized the board to purchase the 20 acres of land immediately west of the school property for $280 per acre and to enter into a working agreement with the fair association to develop the track and gridiron. The $400,000 high school addition at Wilmot will use part of the present athletic field, necessitating purchase of the new property. The county fair board last fall, voted funds to the fair association to construct the track and purchase additional land for parking areas. Three members of each group were appointed to a joint policy committee to operate the field from the fair association are Earl Eifers, Al Schmidt and Charles Dilley. Representing the Wilmot school board are Glen Pacey, Pres; Stanley Stoxen, Treas; Ray Forster, clerk; Marlin Schnurr, Ex Officio.

SHORT STORY

O.K. by Her

By Richard H. Wilkinson

THE MAN who had rented Freda the outboard motor told her that any fool could run one of the things. However, right now, drifting in the wrong direction in the middle of Mirror lake, with the sun beating down unmercifully, she would have given a good deal to have the man's neck between her two hands. Just for luck she gave the crank one more spin. The motor went "chugurg, chugurg"—and died.

"Damn!" exclaimed Freda. She was so furious she could have cried. Instead she stood up and began to wave wildly at a boat that had suddenly appeared around an island point. The boat kept serenely on its course and Freda was about to give up yelling and abandon herself to fate when the other craft swerved and headed in her direction.

Two minutes later a black-haired youth was grinning up at her pleasantly. "Trouble?" he asked.

"There's not a thing wrong with this motor," said Freda, "except that it won't run."

The young man climbed aboard. He had a wrench in his hand. "I'll fix it," he said.

Freda told Len Curtin her name without even stopping to think.

Freda thought he was pretty confident, but a moment later she changed her mind.

"Strainer got clogged," he said. "I'm an expert on outboards. My business is retrievin' 'em."

"Retrieving them?"

"Sure. Plenty of motors lost in this lake every year. I invented a special magnet to find 'em, then I grapple for 'em, haul 'em up, repair 'em and sell 'em. My name's Len Curtin. What's yours?"

"Freda Brandon," said Freda, without even stopping to think.

"Freda Brandon, eh? You're the girl who's going to marry Ray Hubbard. Well, they say money will do anything; but deliver me. Well, so long."

Freda didn't catch her breath until she got back to camp. Her mother had news.

"Darling! Ray wired he's coming up! He's arriving tomorrow."

Freda's spirits sank. "Goody, goody," she said sourly.

Freda set off in the outboard the next morning 10 minutes before Ray was due to arrive. Thirty minutes later she saw a familiar looking boat anchored in a cove and camp up alongside.

"Hi!" grinned Len Curtin.

"How's things?"

"Fine. Say, look, what do you do in the winter?"

"Oh, this and that." Len hauled in his grapping iron. "False alarm. Nothing here. How about anchoring that scow and taking a ride around with me?"

Ray Hubbard was waiting on the dock when she got back. He didn't like the idea of her not being at camp to greet him, but she didn't care.

THE DAY after Ray departed Len Curtin came into the dock and Freda went down to see what he wanted.

"It's a funny thing, but I'm in love. Will you marry me?"

Freda almost fell into the water. "Goodness! I'm going to marry Ray."

"Pshaw! You don't love him. Marry me and we'll have fun."

Freda caught herself wondering if that wouldn't be a good idea. She laughed, sounding like a frog with a sore throat.

"Marry you and fish for outboards all summer—and do what in the winter?"

Ray grinned. "There's no fishing in the winter. We'd get along. I've just sold my grapping magnet invention to the Sea Demon outboard people. That's only the beginning of the things I can invent."

Freda blinked. Good heavens, was he going to be as startling as that all his life. "I'll have to think it over."

"Give you five minutes. Hop in and we'll ride around in the meantime."

Freda heard of people being hypnotized, and she guessed that was what was wrong with her. She hopped in and they rode around. When five minutes was up Len Curtin kissed her and she kissed him back and that settled the whole business.

Prison Inmates Said By Warden to Have Key to Longer Life

OSSINING, N.Y.—Are you interested in a long life? If you are interested enough, get yourself committed to prison.

Warden Wilfred L. Denno of Sing Sing believes people live longer in prison than they do in the great outside.

Although he has made no extensive study, and has no statistics, the warden is convinced that ordinary towns of 1,800 have a higher death rate than occurs among the 1,800 reluctant tenants of the famed institution.

"It's the regular hours," he explains. He goes on to point out, however, that he is not trying to drum up business, or new inmates, but "I would say that the life span of the average man in jail is longer than it is for the average person on the outside. They eat, sleep and work the same time every day. There's no dissipation."

Another contributing factor he outlined is the fact that prisoners get good care and take good care of themselves. They go to see the prison doctor at the slightest provocation, whereas the average person goes only when he is ailing.

"Prison pallor" is a lot of "bunk," the warden states. "These fellows get plenty of sunshine, air and exercise. In no case is their health impaired after they get here, and in many cases it is actually improved by the regular habits."

Sing Sing inmates work a five and a half day week and are free Saturday noon until Monday morning to play games, watch movies, or do anything but leave. The prison death rate from natural causes is very low. Last year it was two; the average is three per year. Unnatural causes—as electrocution—accounts for seven deaths so far this year.

President Renews Life Of Series E War Bonds

WASHINGTON—Now you won't have to cash in your series E war bonds that you have been saving so long.

President Truman has signed a bill which lets you hold on to them and draw interest for 10 years after they reach maturity. The first ones matured May 1. They were then ten years old and were sold seven months before Pearl Harbor. Other series bought during and after World War II will mature at different dates through 1959.

As an inducement to get holders to hang on to E bonds, it is not necessary to report the interest for income taxes until the bonds are actually cashed.

The law specifically provides that any E bond more than 60 days old may be cashed at any time the owner desires. Accumulated interest will be paid to that point.

Besides the option of cashing or retaining matured bonds, the law also allows the owner to exchange his E bonds for G bonds. On these interest is paid by check each six months. This should appeal to retired persons or others who want to spend the interest as it accumulates.

In the United States there are 53 billion dollars invested in war bonds, of which 35 billion is in E bonds. Throughout the country 1.6 billion in E bonds mature this year.

Uncle Sam Says

Defense is everybody's job. You can play an important part in this national emergency by keeping yourself and your country economically strong. Buy U. S. Defense Bonds NOW and REGULARLY. Those who don't save regularly, generally don't save at all. Sign up today for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or the Bond-a-Month Plan at your bank. Series E Bonds are now a better buy than ever. They go on earning interest every year for 20 years from the date of purchase. Hold your maturing E Bonds and let them continue to work for you.
